

Antigone S. Papavasiliou, MD, PhD, graduated from the University of Athens Medical School and trained in Pediatrics at the Mount Zion Hospital in CA, USA and in Neurology with Special Competence in Child Neurology at the Wayne State University School of Medicine, MI, USA.

As Head of the Department of Pediatric Neurology at the Penteli Children's Hospital, Athens, Greece, she developed clinical and research activities in Cerebral Palsy initially focused on the use of Botulinum Toxin and in 2014 she initiated the Attica Cerebral Palsy Registry in the Athens Metropolitan area, a member of the SCPE group.

Additional clinical and research interests are Epilepsy and other Neurodevelopmental Disabilities.

She was a founding member of the Hellenic Association of Pediatric Neurology in Greece and served as member of the Board and President in the past.

She has authored over 55 original papers in international peer-reviewed journals, many review articles and book chapters in Greek and has participated as editor in Greek medical books and information pamphlets for parents and educators.