

Dr Bachrach is Professor of Pediatrics, in the Clinical and Educational Scholarship Track, at the Sidney Kimmel Medical College of Thomas Jefferson University in Philadelphia, PA

He is a developmental pediatrician who is Board Certified in Pediatrics and in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities.

He has been the Co-Director of the Cerebral Palsy Program at the Nemours/Al duPont Hospital for Children in Wilmington, DE (USA) for the past 30 years, and also served as Chief of General Pediatrics from 1987 through 2008

He has recently transitioned to emeritus status at the hospital, and continues to be involved in research projects involving bone health in children with CP.

Dr Bachrach also serves as a volunteer consultant to the ALYN Hospital in Jerusalem, Israel

He has been a member of the AACPD for over 30 years, and has frequently presented at their national meetings, especially in the areas of bone health And the management of complex care in the child with CP